What a beautiful, relaxing game with a gorgeous soundscape. A great way to end my night.. What a pity that this game did not come out on Valentine's Day. Although it is possible to recommend Owned pass that day. How cool.

RPG maker, a love story, an anti-hero and has its own atmosphere with jokes and humor. It seems to me that the game stands out from many similar games that fun here. True. I was very amused in this game Toad and all sorts of accessories \ and items.

I think fans of the genre will be very interesting to play. And others too. You just try it, and then Pull in the very quickly. It will be difficult tear off from a computer = \. Used to like this game back in the day, now stuck on "adjust brightness" screen and can't do anything.. Just by the title you can get an idea about this game.

Yup, you take a role of badass chicken called McAllister who wants to get back his love Candy from the clutches of "I FOGOT HIS NAME."

Through levels you will encounter various types of enemies. This is what I liked most. The enemies are hilarious and every level will have different enemies with funny names.

Enemies go from Agent 0, Silent Killer, Gate Crasher, Agent Anatak, Super Agent, Project Nimrod, Agent Hyde, Young Rioter, Football Hooligan, Uncle Jarvis, Masked Hooligan, Angry Feminist, Internet Troll, Elite Officer, Riot Police, Sniper Officer, Allegedly Gator, Mystery, etc.

You will get new weapons, outfits and upgrades as you progress.

In order to get upgrades you need souls which are some sort of game currency.

Souls can be gathered through levels. But most souls can be gathered from soul pot (or whatever it is called).

To gather souls from pot you will need to do much clicking on pot so that it throws out souls. I suggest using Free Mouse Auto Clicker.

Before starting game just start Free Mouse Auto Clicker and set it to Click point (click where mouse is pointed) and Click Interval to for example 5 on 1/100 S option.

Then start game. When in-game point mouse on souls pot and click ctrl + F2 to start Free Mouse Auto Clicker program.

When you want to stop just click ctrl + F3. You can repeat that several times as much as you want and let program gather souls while you eat, go to bathroom, scroll through Facebook, jerk or do something else.

Overall it is good game but sooooo much clicking. My right hand last hurt me so much when I got into puberty.

Oh yes, I remembered - Dr. Spritzel is the main boss.

Whilst it is nothing groundbreaking, it's a fun little piece that you could certainly rack up a good few hours in. As a 2D Side scrolling plat former, it plays pretty basic. You must switch between two characters, and use their abilities to help one another get past a certain obstacle, obese managerial officer or a harmless office plant. The game offers three game modes, Normal, Hardcore, and Old School, each of which are basically a different difficulty, but the Old School mode really puts you in your place and requires quick thinking and a\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665ton of lemonade.

With what seems like a playful story, the character dialogue unearths some mature issues about this post WWII world, making each of the 72 levels that much more satisfying to play through.

Overall, I have enjoyed my time so far in the Super Lemonade Factory and I plan to do so for a short while more.

- + Lovely visuals and accompanying soundtrack
- + Some deep story elements can be found underneath it's bubbly surface
- + Plenty of levels and achievements to keep you busy

- Not a big fan of switching characters
- Some puzzles are cramped, often there is not a lot of room to move and items you need can get stuck in corners
- I TOTALLY GOT THAT JUMP. WHAT THE HELL?

7/10

. By far my favourite DLC to come out for total war, disregard what everyone is saying this culture pack stands alone as it allows you to play as 3 different factions that have a far different feel then what was originally intended for the rest of the game and is a game of its own. In this Celtic package you play an alternate role in the side story to Attila total War. Allowing you to raid and plunder the Western Roman Empire with little fear, of Attila's wrought. I found this game exceptionally fine playing as the Irish this period allowed me to sit back and enjoy a specialised raiding faction at its peak just 200 years short of its golden age. But allowing the player to experience the best of Celtic vengeance. This was by far one of my favourite total war experiences of all time, as I re-expanded a new Celtic Empire, shaped by my own hands. Do not take on the opinions, of people that have not played this DLC and were so quick to judge, fearful that CA were secretly in their cupboards plotting to steal them and their home. I Advise you to go off and make your own opinion of this exceptionally perfect DLC. Which has given me hours of enjoyment.. Really good it gives another aspect of the game

This game is amazingly good and i will strongly recommend you to get it if you like a good horror puzzle game with a story, and i'm not able to say anything bad about this game when the price is 4 euros.

The controls, the atmosphere, the graphics, the story, the jumpscares and the puzzles are just amazing compared to the price. Thank you devs for making this! :)

I made a full gameplay walkthrough of the game: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=cV17nL5CWAY>. Pretty neat computer-themed TD.. Not a bad platformer. my only complaint was the kinda odd controls and the delay on being hit that made some parts of the game pretty rough to get past.. Short but deep. Literally.. Buggy and has problems booting from Big Picture mode but the craic had makes up for it. Quite fun

You are a girl that is haunted by your dead sister and with the help of some ghosts. that have convenient abilities. you go on a journey to save your sister. Goofy shenanigans ensue.

The puzzles are mostly straight forward (except the one where you have to Baptiste a sock puppet !?!)

It does manage to get you invested in the characters and it does have its funny moments.
